

The Importance of Community Involvement in Chesapeake Bay Restoration:

Acting Locally on Regional Issues

Kate Fritz,

CEO Alliance for the Chesapeake Bay

For the 19+ million people who live, work, and play in the Chesapeake Bay, we all have the ability to positively impact the health of our local rivers and streams. Kate will share her perspective that all impact is local in the Chesapeake, and how all watershed residents can join in the fight for cleaner water starting in our own backyards. We are all part of the pollution solution in the Chesapeake Bay!

About Kate:

Kate Fritz has lived in 5 of the 7 Chesapeake Bay watershed jurisdictions and now calls Annapolis, MD her home. Kate currently serves as the CEO of the Alliance for the Chesapeake Bay, a regional nonprofit that has been bringing together communities, companies, and conservationists to restore the lands and waters of the Chesapeake Bay watershed for the last 50 years. With more than 18 years of leadership experience, Kate believes that the greatest thing she can do as a leader is to support and grow more leaders.
